

MD998924

This is a technical line drawing of a car engine compartment. The drawing shows the engine block, various hoses, and structural components. Three callout lines point to specific parts: one points to a component at the top right, another points to a component in the center, and a third points to a circular component at the bottom right. The drawing is rendered in black lines on a white background.

MD998903

AK300478AC