

A black and white line drawing showing a hand using a screwdriver to install a rack bushing. The hand is positioned at the top right, holding the handle of the screwdriver. The screwdriver's tip is inserted into the center of a circular, flanged component labeled 'Rack bushing'. This component is mounted on a vertical shaft. The background consists of simple lines representing the vehicle's chassis or suspension components.

Rack bushing

ACX01148 AB