

A line drawing of a car seat headrest area. A strap is shown running from the left side of the headrest, passing through a strap guide, and then continuing towards the right. The strap guide is a curved component that the strap passes through. The drawing shows the headrest, the seat backrest, and the side of the seat. The strap is attached to the headrest and passes through the strap guide. The strap guide is a curved component that the strap passes through. The drawing is a technical illustration showing the installation of a strap on a car seat headrest.

Strap

Strap guide

AC313453AB