The diagram shows a vertical assembly. At the top is a small cylindrical component with a textured surface. Below it is a larger cylindrical component with a smooth surface, labeled MD998812. Underneath that is another cylindrical component, also with a smooth surface, labeled MD998814. At the bottom of this upper section is a small, textured cylindrical component labeled MD998816. Below this is a stack of three gear-like components with serrated edges. The entire assembly is shown within a trapezoidal frame.
