

Protrusion
length

The image is a technical line drawing of a mechanical assembly. A central circular component is surrounded by various other parts, including a large gear-like structure at the bottom and several rectangular components. A callout line points from the text 'Protrusion length' to a specific feature on the left side of the central component. The drawing is a black and white line art style.

AK304683 AB