

A technical line drawing of a mechanical assembly. The drawing shows a central component with a long, angled shaft-like section. To the left, a vertical component has a protrusion on its side. A double-headed arrow points to this protrusion, with the word "Protrusion" written below it. To the right, there is a circular component and other parts of the assembly. The drawing is a black and white line art.

Protrusion

AK305982AD