

A technical line drawing of a mechanical assembly. The drawing shows a central component with a long, angled protrusion. A double-headed arrow points to the length of this protrusion, with the word "Protrusion" written below it. The assembly includes various other parts, including a circular component on the right and several rectangular and cylindrical shapes. The drawing is a black and white line drawing with no shading or texture.

Protrusion

AK305982AD