

A technical cross-sectional drawing of a valve assembly. The drawing shows a valve stem with a rounded end fitting into a valve seat. The valve seat is a rectangular component with a curved inner surface. The contact width is indicated by a double-headed arrow pointing to the horizontal distance between the two points where the valve stem's rounded end meets the valve seat's inner surface. The valve seat is labeled as such, and the contact width is also labeled.

Contact width

Valve seat

AK601281AC