

A detailed line drawing of an engine compartment. A hand is shown pointing to a specific sensor mounted on the engine. The sensor is a cylindrical component with a multi-pin electrical connector. A thick black line highlights the sensor and its connection point. The engine block, various pipes, and other mechanical parts are shown in a simplified, technical style.

EGR gas
temperature
sensor

ACE01526AB